Introduction

Welcome to the 2020 Addiction, Mental Health and Social Housing Program Directory!

This resource is a compilation of information collected from a variety of sources and with support from a variety of agencies. Some sites had information provided from the operators directly, and other information was drawn from publicly accessible, online materials.

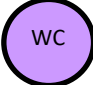

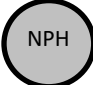

The challenge with any compendium of information is in maintenance. A resource is only as good as the relevance of its content. For that reason we are working to establish a framework for updates to be collected moving forward to ensure future copies of the Directory are as useful as this one.

Please submit any updates or feedback to: icotedmonton@outlook.com.

Shelters

This section includes any sites that provide housing on an emergency basis that are designed to be temporary in nature.

Sites in this section include women's shelters for fleeing domestic abuse, as well as shelters that can provide some temporary relief to the homeless. For someone facing dire circumstances, an emergency shelter can be the difference between life and death. Shelters are often the first point of contact for people to get access to other support services and resources, including accessing more stable housing or treatment.

Housing First Programs

Housing First is a recovery-oriented approach that involves moving people who experience homelessness into independent and permanent housing as quickly as possible, with no preconditions. It then provides them with additional supports and services as needed. Typically this program supports people to access publicly available, “market” housing in the community (“scattered site”) rather than a more communal format (“congregate site”).

It is a proven intervention, moving people from an experience of homelessness to stability with support to access services to achieve long-term success.

There are a variety of different models of Housing First programs, including:

- Assertive Community Treatment: Interdisciplinary clinical supports to address health, mental health, and addiction
- Intensive Case Management: Support for individuals experiencing chronic homelessness
- Rapid Rehousing / Rapid Exit: Housing and short term support for a quick exit from homelessness
- Youth Housing First: Focused on supporting youth aged 13 - 24

	Age Range:	18+
	Gender:	All genders
	Target Population:	Clients with serious and persistent mental illness that impairs their functioning in community living. Priority is given to people with schizophrenia, other psychotic disorders (e.g., schizoaffective disorder), and bipolar disorder because these illnesses more often cause long-term psychiatric disability and because of ACT's proven effectiveness with this population. Applicants will also need to meet the homeless criteria established by Homeward Trust. Continuously homeless for 1 year (this includes time spent incarcerated or in hospital) or at least 4 episodes of homelessness in the past 3 years.
	Substance Use:	DiverseCity uses a harm reduction approach to the delivery of care to its clients.
SITE DETAILS
Description:	DiverseCity Housing is a partnership between Alberta Health Services and Homeward Trust. DiverseCity provides Assertive Community Treatment as well as housing within a Housing First framework. DiverseCity works with clients who can live independently with the interventions and supports of an Interdisciplinary Addictions and Mental Health Team.
LOS:	The program involvement is usually one to two years depending on the needs of the client.
Cost:	Dependent on client's income. Homeward Trust will pay the initial damage deposit along with first month's rent. A subsidy is also provided, depending on client income, for one year.
Accessibility:	DiverseCity does not have any designated housing. DiverseCity works alongside its clients to secure scattered site market housing.
Supports	Staffing:	RN/RPNs, Occupational Therapists, Recreation Therapists, Social Workers, Peer Support Workers, Addiction Counsellor, Supportive Employment Specialist, Administrative Support, Manager. On-Call support 7 days a week from 9am-9pm.
	Medication:	Self-administered but nurses available to provide any prescribed injectable medication. Clients use pharmacy of their own choosing.
	Meals/Food:	Not provided. Staff provides education around meal planning and preparation as needed. Clients are independent in their grocery shopping and meal preparation.
	Other:	Staff work alongside clients to promote independence.
INTAKE DETAILS
Referral Process:	Referrals can be made to Homeward Trust Coordinated Access (High Intensity referral) or paper referrals can be provided by contacting DiverseCity Housing staff directly.

SITE DETAILS

Description:	Housing and short-term support for a quick exit from homelessness. The Rapid Re-Housing model looks for people (both individuals and families) who are experiencing episodic or transitional (as opposed to chronic) homelessness. Like Housing First it has no “readiness requirements” but is focused on getting people into housing and out of shelters as quickly as possible. People who are eligible for rapid re-housing are usually judged to have low to moderate acuity. There are a variety of Rapid Re-Housing models; many use scattered site housing (supporting people to find housing community housing) rather than communal housing. Rapid Re-Housing often includes rent supplements (usually time-limited) and should include some level of community support services.
LOS:	Designed for quick intervention to enable people to find housing and remain in it.

Transitional and Interim Housing

Transitional housing refers to a supportive – yet temporary – type of accommodation that is meant to bridge the gap from homelessness to permanent housing by offering structure, supervision, support (for addictions and mental health, for instance), life skills, and in some cases, education and training.

“Transitional housing is conceptualized as an intermediate step between emergency crisis shelter and permanent housing. It is more long-term, service-intensive and private than emergency shelters, yet remains time-limited to stays of three months to three years. It is meant to provide a safe, supportive environment where residents can overcome trauma, begin to address the issues that led to homelessness or kept them homeless, and begin to rebuild their support network.”

Historically, transitional housing programs were situated within dedicated, building-specific environments (“congregate-site housing), where there some common space than might be the case in permanent housing environments. This is not true for all programs, as some are organized more like apartment buildings. Each program is unique, and a wide variety of programs can be considered under the umbrella of “Transitional Housing”

The following section includes information about Transitional and Interim Housing programs.

Long-Term Independent Housing

Long-term, independent housing includes sites that have no limit to their length of stay, and do not provide any onsite supports. Most of the sites in this section are individual apartment units. Some sites have units available at a lower cost (ie: subsidized or below-market cost).

People living at these sites typically need to be able to manage their Basic Activities of Daily Living independently, or already be connected to adequate supports as needed (ie: Home Care or mental health supports).

Canadian Mental Health Association (CMHA) Housing

CMHA Various locations Phone: (780) 414-6300 Fax: (780) 482-7498 Web: edmonton.cmha.ca   Canadian Mental Health Association Edmonton Mental health for all	CLIENT CRITERIA

Long-Term Supported Housing

The following section includes information about Long-Term Supported Housing, also referred to as Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH).

For the purposes of this guide, Long-Term Supported Housing is defined as any degree of housing with supports available, either onsite or brought in from outside. This section does not include sites that have onsite nursing-level support available (included in the “Assisted Living” section).

Usually units are located in one home or building (“congregate site”). It could include rooms in an individual house or several or all units of a building.

Assisted Living

The following section includes information about Assisted Living sites.

The term Assisted Living is used to identify sites that provide a higher degree of support than what is available at Long-Term Supported Housing sites. These are typically sites with access to onsite nursing for individuals with ongoing physical health needs.

Many of the sites listed in this section are accessed through a centralized system within Alberta Health Services (AHS) called “Continuing Care”. Continuing Care can be reached through the “Community Care Access” system.

SITE DETAILS

Description:	Wellspring is a one-year addiction recovery program for women. It is faith-based and open to all women who have a desire to make changes in their lives, and who are able to understand and participate in an interactive learning experience.  Over the year, women discover who they are, being clean and sober, and are introduced to Jesus Christ, who they can have a relationship with that will carry them through life. They are provided with opportunities to develop self-esteem, and can begin building on their new sense of identity. Courses aim to build practical life skills such as healthy boundaries in relationships, conflict resolution techniques, and cognitive therapy methods.  Near the end of the program, women set goals and plan for their transition back to the community, and are assisted in finding housing and employment before leaving the program, with the option for follow-up support after graduation, if desired.
